Using Linguistic Landscape (LL) to design culturally relevant curricula in Caribbean Creole environments
* Approach that uses language in spaces and places; spoken and heard, represented and displayed.

* Items include single words with deep meanings and shared knowledge, colourful images, sounds, moving objects and infinite creative representations.

What is Linguistic Landscape

Iris Hewitt-Bradshaw
University of Trinidad and Tobago
UWI Biennial Conference
24/04/13
*This includes virtual spaces.

*Researchers and scholars attempt to study and interpret the meaning, messages, purposes and contexts of artefacts in the environment.

(Shohamy & Gorter, 2009)
An image from the internet

(c) Jason X Photography

Iris Hewitt-Bradshaw
University of Trinidad and Tobago
UWI Biennial Conference
24/04/13
“Somebody thiefin de soul of meh nation, Somebody gone with de love dat we had, Somebody thiefin de soul of meh nation, Somebody drivin my country mad, And we, yes you and me, We have to stop dis conspiracy, Ah tellin you we, yes you and me, We have to stop dis conspiracy. Somebody stealing de soul of de nation...”

(Winston Peters - Gypsy)
Drug addiction, and prostitution, teenage pregnancy have taken over my land,
Much too much political corruption,
Talk about race only cause more confusion.
Who would ever try to put all the wrongs right?
Leader after leader put we nation under pressure,
And ordinary people just have to run for cover,
Lord ...
* Context of the photo-shopped image critical for meaning-making and use of language. (Does classroom teaching help students to read these?)

* Inter-textual link to campaign claim of local politician that a boat (of Indians from Calcutta) was waiting to sail to Tobago if the predominantly Afro dominated party lost the Tobago House of Assembly elections (2013).

* Tobago Express is the name of an actual inter-island ferry similar to the one in the image. Both are artefacts of the landscape but can we say they are both “real”?

* “Calcutta Express” as Linguistic Landscape (LL)
* The calypsonian sang when he was in opposition and is now a minister in the current administration.

* Similar charges of corruption are now levelled against his government (irony of situation)

* Inter-textual link to issue of racial conflict in society raised in “Calcutta Express”.

* “Somebody thiefing the soul of meh nation” as LL
LL provides information about societies, and the inter-relationships of groups, especially in linguistic contested regions (Landry & Bourhis, 1997).

Social relationships and attitudes are reflected in the language found in public spaces.

What is Linguistic Landscape?
LL can:
* add to an understanding of language, society and people.
* be applied to education to develop students’ language competence and critical thinking skills (including the perceived relationship between/among events/objects).

Potential of Linguistic Landscape

Iris Hewitt-Bradshaw
University of Trinidad and Tobago
UWI Biennial Conference
24/04/13
Using a LL approach in education can:

* Help make the environment more meaningful to students
* Develop students’ out-of-school literacies
* Increase students’ knowledge of self and their society

* Potential of Linguistic Landscape
Can be used to:
* Promote critical evaluation of texts
* Bring into focus forces that divide and privilege groups in society
* Increase focus on complex language, literacy and educational processes
*How can signs, images, objects in Caribbean linguistic landscape be used to design culturally relevant curricula in Caribbean Creole environments?

*Guiding question
Limited attention to publicly displayed texts as sources for language learning and teaching in the Caribbean.

However, public texts can:

* Place literacy in broader social context.
* Link home, school, society/community.
* Increase students’ motivation.
* Promote critical thinking and speak to representation and forms of identity.
* Multiple theoretical perspectives within disciplines: sociolinguistic; historical, sociological.

* Diverse methodologies used to collect and analyze LL data.

* LL can be affected by language policies.

* LL connects to aspects of identity and awareness; can be viewed as language that represents individual, collective and national identities.

* Issues and directions in LL research

Iris Hewitt-Bradshaw
University of Trinidad and Tobago
UWI Biennial Conference
24/04/13
* Shohamy and Waksman (2009) argue for the use of LL as an educational tool for language learning and for interpreting political and social issues, especially in contested societies.

* Suitability derives from the nature of public space: authentic, dynamic, flowing, non-linear and interactive; not neutral but negotiated and contested.

* Diverse text types that shape public sphere can be useful for language learning.
The development of children’s critical thinking skills is not facilitated by the use of transmissive pedagogies that promote overt instruction and encourage uncritical consumption of information. (Mills, 2011)

This is especially important given that children are bombarded with information in their daily lives from a multiplicity of sources.
“Examines power relations and ideologies embedded in texts through careful and systematic analysis” (Bloome & Carter, 2001, p. 151)

Includes techniques for analysis at 3 levels of discourse organization: text, discursive practices, analysis of social practices

Critical Discourse Analysis (CDA)

Iris Hewitt-Bradshaw
University of Trinidad and Tobago
UWI Biennial Conference
24/04/13
Text: systematic unpacking of lexical, semantic, grammatical structure of text to determine how they portray social facts as natural/unnatural, normal/abnormal, include/exclude positions

* Analysis of discursive practices maps the production, distribution and consumption practices involved in the circulation of texts

* Analysis of social practices involves mapping the possible conditions that make particular ideas or lived experiences seem powerful and pervasive for a given social group at a given period of time (Kamberelis & Dimitriadis, 2009, p.120)

CDA
Samples of texts from Caribbean linguistic landscape

Iris Hewitt-Bradshaw
University of Trinidad and Tobago
UWI Biennial Conference
23/04/13
JAMAICA MI BORN
Das Y Mi Gwaan So!
* Language on clothing reflects linguistic diversity/language variation.
* Language is closely tied to culture and can be a symbol of national identity.
* Such variation in linguistic forms provide opportunities to raise language awareness inside and outside of school, and promote positive attitudes to local languages.
* Language awareness is crucial to successful language learning in multi-lingual and multi-dialectal situations.

The T-shirt as LL

Iris Hewitt-Bradshaw
University of Trinidad and Tobago
UWI Biennial Conference
23/04/13
Iris Hewitt-Bradshaw
University of Trinidad and Tobago
UWI Biennial Conference
24/04/13
Students’ critical reading of the mural can address:
Whose perspectives are represented/heard?
Whose are not represented?
Why are the actors positioned as they are?

Discussion can also focus on the use of “we” and the socio-political context and of the message.
Public texts can:
* Integrate content in school curriculum.
* Highlight public space as an arena used by different players to exercise influence (advertisers, politicians, corporations).
* Reflect authentic language used in diverse ways.
* Indigenize resources for teaching and learning.

* Using Caribbean LL to design culturally relevant curricula
Iris Hewitt-Bradshaw
University of Trinidad and Tobago
UWI Biennial Conference
24/04/13
* Newspapers are pervasive features of the environment; use of internet and social media is increasing.
* In the classroom, threads/themes can connect information from different sources and be interrogated.
* A multidisciplinary approach to curriculum enactment can connect to community and society and help children make sense of events in their lives.
* This can mitigate the effects of widespread consumption of foreign information.

Using the Caribbean Landscape
Drug addiction, and prostitution, teenage pregnancy have taken over my land,
Much too much political corruption,
Talk about race only cause more confusion.
Who would ever try to put all the wrongs right?
Leader after leader put we nation under pressure,
And ordinary people just have to run for cover.
Lord ...
Language and literacy practices always occur within larger social, cultural and historical contexts that exist independently of any specific instance of these practices.

(Kamberelis & Dimitriadis, 2009)
A critical approach to local texts:
* anchors literacy in the community.
* supports the notion of multi-literacies in a socio-cultural context.
* validates the role and function of different linguistic forms that are used appropriately in different social contexts (Standard English/Creole/Mixture of codes)

The value of local/public texts
T&T ranked 3rd fattest country in the world
T&T ranked 3rd fattest country in the world
Please do not touch manikins.

Thank you for your co-operation.

Appetizer

French Flies
Sausages with French Flies
Peanut Small Salad

Liquor
Hercules
BACK SUPPORT RELIEF

Good fuh d’back
(868)299-0102/5
www.caribbeansafety.com

CSP
* Signs from the landscape connect to language teaching and learning processes and objectives.
* Rich classroom discussions can reveal the basis for spelling errors or differences in linguistic structures in students’ environment.
* Benefits of raising language awareness to aid to language learning at all levels.
Thus, incorporating linguistic landscape of Caribbean societies in the process of education can provide diverse opportunities to link language and culture, and indigenize educational resources to motivate and extend student learning.

Conclusion

Iris Hewitt-Bradshaw
iebrad@tstt.net.tt