ABSTRACT

FASCISM DE-EUROCENTRICIZED:
ITS GLOBALIZATION AND LOCAL ADAPTATION IN LATIN AMERICA

LARA LISE NEALA ROOPNARINE

The resurgence of neo-fascism in Eastern and Western Europe, brings to the fore the failed attempts to recognize and analyze the mainstream forces of fascism outside of Europe, found in settler states around the world. Racial supremacy, cultural hegemony and imperialism, and slavery are the antecedents of neo-fascism of today.

This work focuses primarily on the mainstream and neo forms of fascism found in the settler states of Latin America by means of a deconstructive analysis.
