

Sunset at Grafton Bay. Each beach has its fresh water stream which becomes, as here, a quiet lagoon—a bird watcher's sanctuary. At this evening time, herons and other strange birds, many to be found only in Tobago, can be seen fishing or standing motionless.

We left Dolles Ferry Sat. 12 for Guadeloupe. From there to Grenada. A week ago today after wider jet overseas call from Evelyn that Walter had gone into a coma, & died a few hours later. She & Bob visited that we continued our trip, mother had long ago expressed the wish to be cremated. That meant the service could be held when we get back. So Evelyn went to Dolles Ferry to take care of her affairs there and we leave had the peace and beauty of these islands to adjust to the fact that it is over. Her long, patient wait is ended. She kept her sweeteners to the end and need we refer to for her best she is free - our love to your Dad & Mom -
