

THE Pan Am Jet North Stars played the latest tunes at the graduation ball at the University of the West Indies, St. Augustine, on Saturday night, and an appreciative listener was Princess Alice, Countess of Athlone, Chancellor of the University (third from right, above).

The Princess listened attentively, and seems to be questioning her friend who was equally overwhelmed with the musical treat. Princess Alice was given a short lesson on steelband music later in the evening by the band's captain, Anthony Williams, and was able to make her selections.
