OILBIRDS on their nests in Dunston Cave. The World Wildlife Fund assisted in the establishment of The Asa Wright Nature Centre (a non-profit Trinidad trust located at 1200' in the mountains) to give this colony permanent protection. The Centre and cave may be visited by appointment.

Dear Margaret + Mildred - I somehow survived the two airports!!! The Nature Center is a lovely place in a former coffee plantation estate home, with an extensive veranda where one can view close up, many species of birds: tanagers, humming birds, honeycreepers. We are surrounded by many species of flowering trees + shrubs. Field trip today was fairly rugged!
