

Guardian Media's Omari Ashby who gained a First Class Honors BA in Carnival Studies receives his certificate from Vice-Chancellor Professor Hillary Beckles.
PICTURES ABRAHAM DIAZ

Former calypso monarch Roderick "Chucky" Gordon poses for a photo with Cherisse Singh after they received their degrees during the UWI graduation ceremonies. The two received Masters in Human Resource Management from the Arthur Lok Jack School of Business.

T&TEC corporate communications manager and former journalist Annabelle Brasnell graduated from the Arthur Lok Jack School of Business with an Executive MBA.

Sweet success

Noted personalities, current and former Guardian Media team colleagues were among those who graduated from UWI at ceremonies which took place at the St Augustine Campus. We wish them all the best with their future endeavours.

Guardian Media columnist Caroline Ravello receives her Masters of Public Health with distinction certificate from Vice-Chancellor Professor Hillary Beckles.

Former Guardian Media reporter Taureef Mohammed receives his Bachelor of Surgery and Bachelor of Medicine with distinction certificate from Vice-Chancellor Professor Hillary Beckles.