Supporters may spoil your chances, bandleaders told

NOTE to steelband leaders: Don't allow supporters to jump in your bands when you are facing the judges in the Panorama competition.

People and clothes absorb sound. They steal from you the best of your performance.

This was the advice given to panmen by Miss Marjorie Padmore, Panorama judge and musical expert as the Panorama semi-finalists were announced yesterday at the Carnival Development headquarters on Queen Street, Port-of-Spain. Judges of Sunday's Panorama preliminaries found that the standard of this year's arranging was not very high and have recommended that some sort of training programme should be available to trainers.
