

Police Take Away Weapons From Bandsmen

While thousands were watching on at the Steel Bands, the police were slowly working their way through the bands, taking away dangerous weapons from the bandsmen.

Yesterday afternoon, over 50 weapons ranging from small ice picks to two and-half-foot daggers were stored at Headquarters.

Most of the weapons were disguised as staffs and walking sticks. Excuse of the men who carried them was that they were for protection.