

PREFACE

The cases discussed were collected throughout my surgical training. In my opinion, these were found to be the more interesting ones encountered. Due to the fact that a significant period of my surgical residency was spent in thoracic surgery, some of the cases discussed are in the subspeciality of the thoracic surgeon or thoracic surgery related general surgical problems.

The last four papers presented were publications made in the West Indian Medical Journal or presented at the Annual Conference of the Commonwealth Caribbean Medical Council.