discussed what they would play for the Coronation carnival.

STEEL PANS

The hundreds of steel pans which had clanged out "Madeline", "Bajan Gal", "Bow-Wow-Wow" for two days sat alone with their own echoes for company.

We must remark, en passant, how many steelbands accompany masqueraders of their own organising at carnival time now.

This brings more costumes out on the streets, as the steelbands, which gained popularity at carnival because they originally cost less than dance orchestras, again reduce costs in this way.

Hundreds of tourists are packing up, evacuating their temporary lodgings, and getting ready to go home, the memory of the most amazing show they have ever seen still vivid.
