

Always hot favourites, Forsyth Highlanders never fail to please the crowd.

Sound? It's unique Band? Highlanders

THE innovators, Forsyth Highlanders.

And they have tuner-arranger Bertie Marshall to thank for that title.

He has created a new sound — one that cannot be copied.

It would be a waste of time anyway because from year to year Highlanders are never the same band.

First Bertie introduced the double tenor, then raised the pitch of the band, put amplified pans on the road and now has invented a double second with dampers.

The band strikes up and right away you know who is beating.

The sound is unique. The style is inimitable. Listen to their bombs and you wonder how the great masters would have reacted.

Then you understand why the Bomb Trophy has been theirs twice.

The Forsyth Highlanders have also been runners-up in the Panorama Competition.

Only once, perhaps because it takes time for innovations to become accepted.
