

TALK OF TRINIDAD

with ANDRE ALEXANDER

Pan through the generations

LEFT: ROSEFORD CLOUDEN, centre, founder and leader of Generation to Generation Steel Orchestra, chats with Mother ANN-MARIE DANIEL of the St Francis Spiritual Baptist Church, and HAZEL DE PEZA, principal of the Spiritual Baptist School of Theology.

BELOW: JUNE CLOUDEN, wife of ROSEFORD CLOUDEN, leader of Generation to Generation Steel Orchestra, plays the double second.

PHOTOS: ANDRE ALEXANDER

THE NORMALLY quiet residential community of Paradise Gardens, Tacarigua, came to life last Saturday evening when members of Generation to Generation Steel Orchestra entertained their parents, friends and specially invited guests with a repertoire of Christmas and religious music.

The event took place at the home of Roseford and June Clouden.

Roseford, a former member of the Black Label Serenaders Steel Band and an honorary member of Witco Desperadoes, is founder and leader of Generation.

The band formed some six years ago and only plays religious music at Christian functions.

According to him, the band had a successful 2003 and the function was its way of saying thanks for the support given to Generation, especially by the parents of its members.

Among the specially invited guests who attended the celebrations were Monica Williams, director of Gender Affairs; Joyce Dickson, executive secretary to Eulalie James, Minister in the Ministry of Community Development and Culture; Hazel De Peza, principal Spiritual Baptist School of Theology; and Mother Ann-Marie Daniel of the St Francis Spiritual Baptist Church.

