Online portfolios are an incredible way to showcase individual skills and institutional offerings. Portfolios make a great first impression and show the depth and breadth of offerings/experience and accomplishments of staff and the library. In this practical session attendees will learn how to prepare an online open access portfolio. Information includes

- how to determine what background information is necessary
- identifying services and resources to include in the portfolio
- summarising major projects/publications/conferences, and more.

They will also learn about choosing a social media outlet/website to highlight this portfolio. This presentation is for the Evidence-Based Practice and Continuing Professional Development content area roundtable.
